

Finn Dixon & Herling Bolsters Banking and Finance Practice; Adds Christopher Craig as Partner

Related Attorney

Christopher H. Craig

STAMFORD, CT – Finn Dixon & Herling LLP, a law firm with extensive experience providing corporate, transactional, securities, investment management and litigation counsel, announced that Christopher Craig, a prominent banking and finance attorney, has joined the firm as a partner. Mr. Craig was previously a partner at Paul, Hastings, Janofsky & Walker LLP.

Mr. Craig regularly represents lenders and borrowers in leveraged finance transactions and secured credit facilities, including cash-flow and asset-based financings. He has significant experience in acquisition financings, first and second lien facilities, mezzanine financings, project financings, restructurings and loan sales and participations, including non-performing loan portfolio acquisitions.

“We are thrilled that Chris has joined our firm,” said Brett W. Dixon, Administrative Partner of Finn Dixon & Herling. “With Chris’s arrival, we are adding to our already impressive banking and finance capabilities. Chris represents the full spectrum of banking and finance clients, ranging from finance companies to hedge funds and private equity funds to corporate borrowers. Moreover, his service-oriented and collaborative style will mesh very nicely with the needs of our client base.”

“Finn Dixon & Herling’s platform will be a terrific fit for my practice,” Mr. Craig said. “I also believe that my experience in international transactions, including experience gained in my recent two year stint in Japan, will help to support Finn Dixon’s burgeoning international activities.”

Mr. Craig is a graduate of Boston University School of Law (J.D., 1987, Magna Cum Laude) and Hamilton College (B.A., 1984).